Game Guide

Dieter Bartholomäi

The Origin of the Game

The Transformation Game was developed at the Findhorn Foundation, an international spiritual community, workshop center and eco-village located in the north of Scotland. The Findhorn Foundation and surrounding community have changed and grown continuously in the almost 50 years since their beginnings, attempting always to create and maintain a conscious, sustainable and co-creative existence while dealing individually and as a collective with the challenges of communal living. Due to the intensity of community life each individual experiences their own transformation processes in an amplified, accelerated and concentrated way. The Transformation Game embodies this dynamic. It shines a bright light onto our thinking and behavior patterns, offers surprising insights, opens up new pathways and supports change and transformation on a deep level.

Joy Drake, one of the co-founders of the Transformation Game says:

„I wanted to find a way to communicate the Findhorn experience to other people without the need for them to be present in the community for many years.“

The Game Guide

Dieter Bartholomäi will be guiding you in the Transformation Game. Dieter lived and worked in Findhorn in the early 90s and again between 2003 and 2008. In 1992 Dieter completed the required Transformation Game Facilitator Training at the Findhorn Foundation. Since then he has guided people from all corners of the world through the Game. „As your Game Facilitator I support you by bringing all of my life experience, my intuition, my insights and my open heart into the Game.“

The Game

The Transformation Game is a board game where each player follows their own, personal life path. All of the events that you encounter on your path, including birth, insights, setbacks and miracles will offer information in relation to your own personal Playing Focus. You will develop your Playing Focus based on what is asking for your attention in your life at the time you play the Game. You will also receive supportive feedback from your co-players and the Game Facilitator.

The Game will mirror to your life back to you. Every situation in the game is a opportunity for deep understanding and creative change. During the course of the Game you may experience miracles and have opportunities to use your intuition as well as receive universal feedback.

You play the Game individually while at the same time being part of a group of co-players. Every event touches the lives of every player and in doing so connects the players with each other.

Up to six players are guided through the Game by a Game Facilitator. This small group setting fosters communication, cooperation and the building of trust in an intense and inspiring environment. Getting to know your co-players on a deeper level is yet another benefit of the Game.

Playing Focus

You begin your Game by identifying your individual Playing Focus which offers you a sense of orientation and purpose throughout the Game.

Examples:

- ♦ I intend to enjoy my life fully, and live in lightness and abundance
- ♦ I intend to overcome my loneliness and to open myself to other people and to love
- ♦ I intend to reconnect with my inner joy, power and creativity
- ♦ I intend to love myself and to identify my needs
- ♦ I intend to be professionally successful
- ♦ I intend to heal myself and to discover the spiritual, emotional and behavioral patterns that have caused my disease
- ♦ I intend to reconnect with myself and to find my inner voice.
- ♦ I intend to bring my relationship with my partner to a new level where love can flow again.

Key issues of your life are used throughout the Game to assist you in your inner growth and development.
